FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT (FCRA) CONSUMER DISCLOSURE AND GENERAL AUTHORIZATION

In connection with my application for the program being produced by the Producers for Speed Channel, I understand that a consumer report or investigative consumer report, as those terms are defined in the Fair Credit Reporting Act as amended (FCRA), 15 U.S.C. 1681*et seq.*, may be obtained by the Producers and/or Speed Channel from a consumer reporting agency (CRA). I further understand that the CRA may not give out information about me to the Producers and/or Speed Channel without my written consent. It is also understood that the CRA may not report medical information about me to the Producers and/or Speed Channel without my specific prior consent as to the release of such information, which is in addition to my general authorization herein.

I understand that an investigative consumer report is a special type of consumer report in which information about the character, general reputation, personal characteristics, and mode of living is obtained through personal interviews. (The italicized text represents the exact wording found in Section 603(e) of the Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act.) In the event an investigative consumer report is obtained, I understand that (a) I am entitled to receive a summary of my rights, and (b) I have the right to request additional disclosures provided for below as follows:

Upon my written request to the Producers within a reasonable period of time after my receipt of this Fair Credit Reporting Act Consumer Disclosure and General Authorization, the Producers shall make a complete and accurate disclosure of the nature and scope of the investigation requested. It is understood that this disclosure shall be made in writing, mailed, or otherwise delivered to me not later than five (5) days after the date on which the request for such disclosure was received from me or such report was first requested, whichever is later in time.
